In March of 2020, the global pandemic forced Fearless! to immediately pivot most programs and services entirely virtual. As widely reported by journalists, the demand for services for victims and survivors increased throughout the pandemic. The strong, committed Fearless! team of dedicated staff and board of directors were steadfast throughout the year, working to ensure we were accessible and available 24/7 for all who turned to us for help. The pandemic changed what our services looked like and how our services were provided, and Fearless! worked to develop new and innovative ways to ensure victims and survivors, along with our school and community partners, could connect with our advocates and educators regardless of the challenges we faced.
