A Message From Our Executive Director

On behalf of Safe Homes of Orange County Board of Directors and Staff, I am pleased to present our 2017 Community Impact Report. This report takes a look at the services we provide, our fiscal health, and acknowledges the amazing donors and funders who supported us throughout 2017. This past year has proved challenging on many levels, as we have navigated the impact of changes within our country.

Many significant events occurred in 2017—moments in our history that precipitated conversations with our children and will prove pivotal to our country's future. On January 20, 2017, we shared in the incredible experience of the Women's March as more than 5 million people across seven continents joined together to reinvigorate a movement for true change. Since then, greater space has been created to allow all voices to be heard as we focus on dismantling the systems that keep sexism, racism, classism, homophobia, and other forms of oppression functioning.

In August, the country bore witness to an abhorrent rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, led by a white supremacist group. In October, an act of domestic terror in Las Vegas pushed perpetrators of domestic violence and their patterns of abuse to the forefront of a national conversation about the prevalence of mass murder. But also in October, we saw an explosion of the “me too” movement (created ten years ago by Just Be Inc. founder, Tarana Burke) as it shifted to social media and became #MeToo. As we head into 2018, we continue to have these conversations, we continue to speak up and share our stories, and we continue to laud the courage of so many survivors.

In 2017, Safe Homes provided the highest number of shelter bed nights in our 31-year history. Our advocacy services increased tremendously, and the need to support our community during these challenging times was felt far beyond our education and prevention programs. And yet, even on our most challenging days, there have been amazing moments. These moments occur on both an individual and community level and they allow us to bear witness to extraordinary acts of humanity, courage, and perseverance. These moments fuel us to keep moving and keep speaking up— because the alternative is not an option.

In October, Safe Homes celebrated 31 years of providing services to the community at our Second Annual Celebration of Hope Gala. It was an incredible evening that brought together community members, fellow service providers, local businesses, and survivors to honor those that came before us and the future that lies ahead. It was incredible to see guests embrace both our “masquerade ball” theme and Safe Homes. While this annual event may be filled with entertainment, fun, and laughter, it serves as the one night a year we honor the amazing individuals and businesses that have supported Safe Homes and lifted up our mission within their daily work.

Assemblyman James Skoufis was honored for his longtime support of Safe Homes. A friend to Safe Homes well before his political career, in his current role, Assemblyman Skoufis has continued to support those impacted by domestic violence by co-sponsoring legislation to strengthen protections for victims, as well as securing monies to help fund our new shelter (scheduled to open in January 2019).

Shannon Wong was honored for her commitment of well over a quarter century of her life to the liberation of all women and girls. Shannon is one of founding mothers of the community education tool “In Her Shoes: Living with Domestic Violence”, which our organization and countless others across the country still use today. Her current role as Director of the Lower Hudson Valley Chapter of the New York Civil Liberties Union, allows her to continue lifting up the voices of those that are not always heard.

Cornerstone Family Health Center was honored this year for the ever-evolving partnership between our two organizations. Each of us works within our own areas to ensure basic human rights are granted. Our paths intertwine daily and our ability to work effectively together has a greater impact on all those seeking each of our services.

We rounded out the evening by honoring Mauri Architects. Jay Diesing and his incredible team believed in the Safe Homes mission to expand shelter services long before a pencil was ever put to paper. Mauri Architects has been with us every step of the way, and has never wavered on ensuring that we be able to accommodate the needs of as many victims as possible that seek emergency shelter services.

Safe Homes could not exist without the incredible supporters and donors that help us throughout the year. Each donation, both monetary and in-kind, plays a vital role in ensuring that victims whose lives are impacted by violence at the hand of their abuser can feel supported as they attempt to navigate a life free from violence. From the monetary donations that help us meet basic needs and support vital programming, to gifts of laundry detergent bottles tied with a roll of quarters that ensure a child's clothes are clean for tomorrow—each act of kindness has a ripple effect.

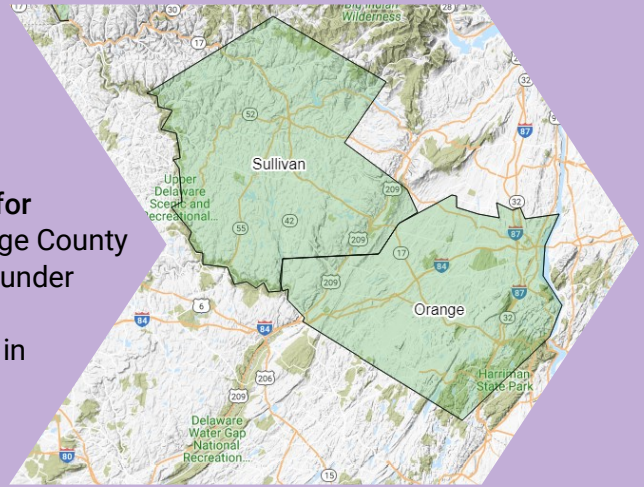

While we were challenged in numerous ways in 2017, it is in the moments embedded in all of these experiences that we saw heroism, courage, kindness, compassion, and the fortitude to keeping moving. Safe Homes is thankful to each and every one of you that chose Safe Homes and those we serve to benefit from your generosity and incredible acts of kindness.

Collectively, we are all changing lives.

Surviving domestic violence can be a daunting, unrelenting journey.

We recognize the incredible strength of victims and survivors attempting to access safety and connecting with Safe Homes for support. In March of 2017, our services expanded beyond Orange County into Sullivan County as the Safe Passage program transitioned under Safe Homes. We provide Non-Residential advocacy services, supportive counseling, and emergency services from our office in the Sullivan County Government Center in Monticello. The Safe Passage hotline continues to be (845) 292-5700 with hotline services now provided by Safe Homes.

Through a collaborative effort with the Warwick Valley Humane Society, we are able to arrange temporary housing for pets. Our Safe Pets Program allows us to provide a safe haven for both household and other types of pets while an individual or family resides in our emergency shelter. In 2017, 8 pets were sheltered for a total of 578 nights of safety. This allowed 6 adult survivors and their children to access safe shelter without having to leave their pets behind or worry about the care they would receive.

Outreach & Education

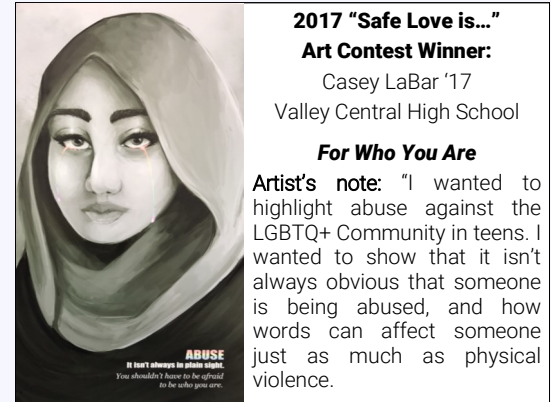

Safe Homes offers free education in both English and Spanish on issues surrounding teen dating violence, violence prevention, human trafficking, and healthy relationships to community groups, schools, workplaces, law enforcement agencies, healthcare, government, and human service organizations. Trained educators design presentations or workshops according to the needs and characteristics of each group or audience.

131 presentations reached 1,741 adults, raising awareness on topics such as the dynamics of domestic violence, stalking, technology safety, human trafficking, the impact of domestic violence on children, and domestic violence in the workplace.

Topics included abusive versus healthy relationships, physical and online bullying, the impact of stereotypes, sexism, bystander intervention, cultural-competency, and other themes.

Safe Homes Youth Educators led the 5th annual Youth Leadership Academy during two weeks in July for students ages 14-17. With support from the Orange County Youth Bureau, Safe Homes offered two week-long academies, one in Newburgh and one in Port Jervis, with a total of 25 Orange County youth participating. During this workshop, youth exercised and enhanced their leadership skills while gaining knowledge and participating in conversations on teen dating violence, equality, safety, respect, healthy boundaries, consent, messages from the media, systems of privilege and oppression, bystander empowerment, effective communication, what makes a true leader, and how to make a difference in their own community. Youth were challenged to think outside the box, to challenge themselves, and to challenge others.

On February 11, 2017, we announced the winner (pictured above) of our 3rd annual "Safe Love is..." Art Contest. 39 students from grades 6-12 across Orange County submitted artwork expressing their vision and voice in ending teen-dating violence.
